Persolvo Data Systems President Wade Torkelson to Speak at The Association of Settlement Companies Annual Conference

Newport Beach, CA, March 19, 2009 – Persolvo Data Systems (www.PersolvoDataSystems.com) announced today that Wade Torkelson, President, is scheduled to speak at The Association of Settlement Companies \(TASC\) Annual Conference on Tuesday, April 7, 2009 beginning at 1:30 p.m. at The Palms Casino and Resort in Las Vegas, Nevada.

The topic of the presentation, Self-Savers vs. Secured Savings and the Facts, will focus on the differences between the Self-Saver Model of debt settlement, where consumers save settlement funds on their own, and the Secured-Savings Model, where consumers have their settlement funds drafted into an escrowed account.

During his presentation, Torkelson will outline key differences in these two business models used today in the debt settlement industry. Drawing on his vast experience utilizing both models, Torkelson will illustrate the successes for both the consumer and the company under each model.

“We’re very excited about the roster of speakers at this year’s conference, and are looking forward to having Wade Torkelson as one of our panel presenters,” said Chris Kesterson, President of The Association of Settlement Companies. Wade’s extensive background and experience in the industry will provide our conference attendees a great deal of value and understanding of these two different models of debt settlement.”
